

Statement on the Iraq War

War showcases the failure of humankind.

War is violence, destruction, and disregard for the presence of the sacred in each person and in the created universe.

With Bishop Thomas Gumbleton of Detroit, Michigan, we clearly state that, "The Iraq war is a violation of every value we hold as a people of faith and conscience."

We, the Daughters of Wisdom of the United States Province, continue our efforts at legislative advocacy, war protests, peace rallies, and prayers.

We join our voices with those of the United States Catholic Conference of Bishops, interfaith leaders in our nation, and the multiple groups who speak declarations of truth, reason and justice against the war.

We strive with these methods to confront our leaders with the need to remove our troops in a responsible manner and to help restore stability to Iraq and return it once again to the family of nations.

"Blessed those who work for peace; they shall be called children of God."
